Career Objective:

A burgeoning Software Developer, I am a career changer from education and psychology who has discovered a love for coding and problem solving. I am a self starter looking for a company that will support my drive to learn and do more. My previous experience has given me a wealth of collaborative communication skills and maintained my creative thinking. I have recently completed 2 boot camp courses with Code First Girls as a way to jumpstart my coding career and develop the skills needed to begin this journey.
